ASSASSIN BOMBS HITLER

Fuehrer Burned and Bruised; Many Aides Hurt by Blast

LONDON, July 20 (AP)---The official German news agency, DNB, said today that a bomb attempt had been made on Hitler's life and that the German Chancellor was "only slightly burned" and sustained some bruises.

Hitler was "not otherwise hurt and continued his routine work and received Mussolini," deposed Italian dictator who now heads a rump republican Fascist government, the announcement said.

Marshal Goering at once went to Hitler upon learning of what had happened, the Berlin broadcast added.

12 Towns in British Grip

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, July 20 (AP)—Strong British armored formations under command of a man who once was Marshal Rommel's prisoner have captured 12 towns and now are approaching Vimont, eight miles southeast of Caen on the road to Paris, supreme headquarters announced today.

Just short of Vimont the armored drive led by Lt. Gen. Sir Richard Nugent O'Connor—who was captured in the African desert in 1941, but escaped from an Italian prison camp—jabbed into battered German positions after carving out a four-mile-wide spearhead south from the vicinity of Troarn, east of Caen.

Comparative quiet was registered on the American front except for local advances between St. Lo and Periers which took three villages, the Supreme Command announced.

A dispatch from Associated Press War Correspondent Hal Boyle said American patrols crossed the Ay river in the coastal sector and other forces clashed with Germans entrenched in Lessay.

Fighting raged on a bulging 10-mile front from southwest of Caen to near Troarn as the British drove remnants of five and a half enemy divisions back towardParis and the Seine.

Rommel was on the run again, but it was not clear whether he was going to risk a major battle in the Caen plain. The Allied thrust still pushed ahead steadily, although it had lost the speed with which it got off after the air forces shattered the German lines with an unprecedented bombing.

While British armor slugged into German anti-tank screens on the east, Canadians driving south from Caen swept through several villages, including Ifs and Cormelles, and at last reports were battling units in Bourguebus, five miles below Caen. This advance secured the docks at Caen for unrestricted use of the Allies.

Heavy armored battles were raging from a considerable distance south of these villages in an arc to Troarn. Clashes also occurred between the Odon and Orne rivers and on the road to Villres-Bocage. The Germans still held Noyers, but the British advanced on the west.

U. S. Troops Chase Nazis Across Arno

ROME, July 20 (AP)—American troops, reaching the south banks of the lower Arno river on a 25-mile front in hot pursuit of the Germans fleeing to their Gothic line defenses beyond the river, have captured Colle Salvetti, seven miles northeast of Allies-held, Livorno and 10 miles southeast of Pisa.

German opposition was confined largely to sniping parties. Artillery fire left the enemy with no alternative but retreat.

At the otehr end of the front Polish and Italian units pushed on from the west coast port of Ancona and cut the coastal road at Torrette a Mare, nearly three miles west of the city. Another column, with armor, sped along the inland route in the Adriatic sector and established a bridgehead over the Esino river, 10 miles west of Ancona

LONDON, July 20 (INS) — Prime Minister Churchill will give a review of the war situation in the House of Commons Aug. 2 and his statement will be open to debate, Foreign Secretary Eden announced today.

2 Japs Put In Tojo Job

By the Associated Press

Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo, who led Japan into war against America and Britain and had been virtual dictator for two and a half years, has fallen with his entire cabinet and Tokyo announced today Emperor Hirohito had ordered another general and an admiral to form a new government "in co-operation."

Hirohito's mandate was given Gen. Kuniaki Koiso, governor-general of Korea, and Adm. Mitsumasa Yonai, premier in 1940, two of the most powerful leaders of the fighting services Tokyo broadcasts said completion of the new cabinet was expected tonight or early tomorrow (Tokyo time).

The choice indicates there will be no fundamental departure from the principle of military rule. Both Koiso and Yonai have been known as aggressive proponents of Japanese expansion.

The naming of two men as joint premiers-designate is unprecedented and signifies a determination to combine all elements of the Army and Navy in a government to cope with the acknowledged peril of defeat by the United States and its Allies.

Ousting of Tojo was sequel to the series of defeats climaxed by the loss of Saipan on July 10, bringing American air and naval power within a few hours' bomber flight of the Japanese homeland and confronting the empire with what Tojo himself called an "unprecedentedly great national crisis."

His fall constitutes one of the most drastic governmental upheavals of the second World War, since his position generally had been considered abroad similar to that of Hitler in Germany and Mussolini in Italy.

Domei, the official news agency, indicated Tojo had fought a losing battle for the past week to maintain his power.

He held a series of meetings with senior statesmen, but failed, and thereupon collected the resignations of all his ministers and presented them to the Emperor Tuesday.

Adm. Mitsumasa Yonai — Gen. Kuniaki Koiso

The Mikado turned for advice to his highest ranking consultant, Marquis Koicho Kido, lord keeper of the privy seal.

Tojo, generally considered his nation's supreme war lord and in the American eye the personification of Japanese imperialism, apparently is now stripped entirely of power.

The Japanese homeland was told that because of "The counter-offensive of the United States," the war "situation has become more and more critical" and that therefore Tojo "realized it is appropriate to change the feeling of the people and march straight forward with the fullest speed for the destruction of the enemies, the United States and Britain . . ."

RUSSIA—Arrows locate points where seven Russian armies are pressing Germans back from Latvia to Lwow. The armies are led by Generals (1) Maslennikov, (2) Yeremenko, (3) Bagramian, (4) Cherniakovsky, (5) Zakharov, (6) Rokossovsky and (7) Konev.

Berlin-Stockholm Wires Again Open, Unexplained

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—Telephone and telegraph communications between Berlin and Stockholm were resumed today after being cut for 14 hours, the British radio said.

The break is still unexplained, BBC said, adding "the cutting of communications has been imposed when something drastic has occured in Germany."

The break was "not due to Allied air action, since no raids on Berlin were reported yesterday," according to the British announcement, heard by OWI. "No dispatches from Berlin correspondents appeared in any Stockholm newspapers this morning."

Reds in Lwow Outskirts

By DANIEL DE LUCE

MOSCOW, July 20 (AP)—The German army showed signs of breaking in the hotly contested battleground west of the Niemen river before East Prusssia today as seven fronts flamed in battle.

(The German radio said Russian troops had reached Augustow, at the base of the Suwalki triangle which was annexed to East Prussia out of Polish territory in 1939. The town is eight miles from the pre-1939 frontier of East Prussia.)

The string of German-held cities of Lwow, Brest Litovsk, Bailystok, Kaunas and Daugavplis tottered, with the Russians fighting to the outskirts of Lwow in southern Poland and possibly in the suburbs of Brest Litovsk in northern Poland.

In the south the Russians for the first time had smashed through the Bug river defense which from 1939 to 1941 formed the dividing line between Russia and German-held Poland.

In the newest power-packed offensive near the Latvian republic's northeast corner, Gen. Maslennikov's Third Baltic Army crossed the Velikaya river, south of Ostrov, and made swift progress toward middle Latvia, the frontier only nine miles away.

The Soviet air force was out in a strength never before equalled, giving sure cover for masses of tanks, cavalry and infantry which swarmed upon the Germans from the Bug river to the bogs of the north.

Bombardment of Guam Pushed Through 15th Day

By Associated Press

Adm. Nimitz' great fleet has poured devastation upon Guam for the 15th consecutive day, unloading a torrent of bombs and shells against the island's defenses against invasion. The Nimitz announcement yesterday covered action through Tuesday.

In the Southwest Pacific Gen. MacArthur reported further repulses of enemy attempts to break out of a New Guinea trap. There 45,000 Japanese are cornered.

The Tokyo radio announced that Liberaotr bombers attacked Yap island in the Carolines yesterday and Chichi Jima in the Bonins.

China fought doggedly to hold Hengyang. The Chinese said their troops broke through the Hengyang besiegers. The U. S. 14th Airforce slashed at extended Japanese supply lines to bolster the Hengyang defenders.

The Japanese hold all but 175 miles of the 1000-mile Peiping-Canton railway, but taking that last gap has been a process so gallingly slow that it undoubtedly bore on Premier Tojo's fall.

Reds in Postwar Talks Here Soon

MOSCOW, July 20 (AP)—The foreign office announced today it would participate in preliminary, unofficial discussions with the United States and Great Britain in Washington early next month on an international organization for postwar peace.

Nazi General's Death Is Puzzle

MADRID, July 20 (AP)—A private obituary notice appearing in the Berlin newspaper Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung announces the death of Maj. Gen. Adolf Hamann.

The announcement recalled a Moscow report early this month saying that Hamann, German commandant at Robruisk, had been captured by Russian troops, would be tried as a war criminal and hanged if found guilty.

2000 U. S. Planes Smash Leipzig

LONDON, July 20 (AP)—Another 2000 American planes blackened the skies of central Germany today, bombing a great array of airplane factories and synthetic oil plants around Leipzig.

The armada consisted of more than 1,200 bombers and up to 750 fighters.

Enemy broadcasts declared other American bombers from Italy were striking at the roofless Reich for the third straight day, this time in Tyrol and Bavaria.

RAF heavy bombers streamed across the channel in daylight against the robot bomb platform of northern France after bombing caves housing the missiles at Thiverny, 30 miles northeast of Paris, at dusk.

Saipan General in Hawaii

HONOLULU, July 20 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Robert C. Richardson announced that Maj. Gen. Ralph C. Smith has been named to command an Army infantry division in the Hawaiian islands. Smith commanded victorious forces in the Makin and Saipan invasions.

Death Ends Trip To Plan Bridal

Lt. Charles S. Burns, 21-year-old Army flier, who met his death yesterday in an automobile crash near Syracuse, N. Y., was bound for Las Vegas, Nev., to complete plans for his approaching marriage to Miss Jean Fellowes of Swampscott, 20, the United War Fund's 1943 Red Feather Girl.

This disclosure was made today by his grief-stricken mother, Mrs. Ruth Snow Burns of the Hotel Sheraton, well-known Boston novelist and former newspaperwoman.

The wedding day had been set for Sept. 21 at Las Vegas air base, where the young aviator and Harvard graduate was on duty as a flight instructor.

The engagement was announced only this week by Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Fellowes while Burns was home on a two-week furlough. Miss Fellowes, a graduate of Brimmer School in May, now is a model and was one of the beautiful girls recruited as junior hostess for opening of the Boston Stage Door Canteen.

The victim was accompanied by two young sailors, both of whom were only slightly injured. They had been given a lift when Burns dropped in at the Fargo building here before departing to see if any servicemen were going West.

Burns was the son of the late Jules Burns, well known Boston attorney, and his mother is authoress of "Love Comes to Lisbeth."

Spencer Tracy, William Powell and Wallace Beery also will be eligible for the maximum pension under a new employe-pension plan covering 4300 Loew personnel.

Abp. Spellman Flies Overseas

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York, Roman Catholic military vicar of the armed forces, left New York by plane yesterday to visit neutral and warring nations in Europe, Africa and Asia, it was learned today.

The Vatican announced yesterday that the archbishop was expected to arrive there sometime before the end of the week, "one of the regular visits to the Holy See required of bishops."

The archbishop is expected to visit Army camps and chaplains during his tour, as he did during a 24-week sojourn last year.

Ickes Asks FD Spike Truman

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

CHICAGO, July 20 (INS)—The Democratic convention entered its second session today with President Roosevelt's tactics assailed by rebellious Southerners, bitterness spreading through the party ranks and Vice-President Wallace out in front in the race for second place.

The President's convention managers forecast nomination of Sen. Truman as Roosevelt's running mate but Wallace actually led in pledged first ballot votes.

An International News Service poll showed Wallace had 513 first ballot votes with 587 necessary for nomination. Truman ran far behind with only 328½ pledged first ballot votes.

The remainder were scattered among 14 rival possibilities or uncommitted, with Sen. Barkley in third place with 91 pledged votes.

The situation was further confused by a switch in the stand of interior Sec. Ickes, who told President Roosevelt by telegram he would make "the greatest political error" of his presidential career if he permits party "bosses" to name the Democratic vice-presidential candidate.

SWINGS TO WALLACE

The blast of Ickes, earlier reported supporting Justice William O. Douglas, was directed at the backing given by big-city party leaders to Sen. Truman.

Ickes, throwing himself wholeheartedly into the fight for renomination of Wallace, was reported to have asked Mr. Roosevelt to revise his "if I were a delegate" letter and advise party leaders to support the Vice President.

ROW GROWS BITTER

Ickes was understood to have wired the President he first thought Wallace's renomination would weaken the ticket, but that he has found tremendous enthusiasm among delegates for the Iowan and has changed his mind.

Followers of Wallace and Truman were assailing their rival candidate in an intra-party row that threatened to carry over into November's election.

There remained a possibility that Wallace and Truman will beat each other into defeat, with Sen. Barkley capturing the prize.

Roosevelt's convention managers, already bloodied by the defeat of their first choice—War Mobilization Director Byrnes—hoped to swing Truman's nomination by publication of a Roosevelt letter accepting the Missourian.

Its publication may offset the earlier Roosevelt letter, in which the President said.

"I personally would vote for Wallace's renomination if I were a delegate to the convention."

MENTIONS DOUGLAS

In his second letter, the President said he would be "pleased to have Truman run with me on the party ticket and believe he would add real strength to the ticket."

But the President went a little

CIO Aid to Cut F. D. Vote

By LOUIS BROMFIELD
Author and Lecturer
Written Expressly for the Hearst Newspapers

CHICAGO, July 20—Although outwardly all appears to be serene and under control, there is no such unity at the Democratic National Convention as made the Republican gathering seem a dull affair.

Under cover there exists every sort of feud, division and even enmity between groups and even inside state delegations.

NEW FEUD FLARES

I have seen more out-and-out fights and more insults exchanged in a few hours than I heard during the whole of the Republican convention.

There is, of course, the great feud between the New Dealers and the old line Democrats, and a feud developed at the last moment between the CIO Political Action Committee and the organization bosses when Philip Murray and Sidney Hillman showed their intention to dictate not only policies but who would be acceptable to them as vice-presidential candidate.

DEEPER HOSTILITY

Far deeper and more profound is the resentment and hostility toward Murray and Hillman of scores of delegates from the Mississippi basin, the South, the Southwest and the Northwest.

These are the delegates from the small towns, the ranches, the farms, who, in one sense at least, represent America far more than does Latvian-born, New York city-bred Mr. Hillman.

It is part of a growing revolt of the nation as a whole against the entire range of foreign ideas and ideologies—against centralization, regimentation, the philosophy of scarcity, the limitations of personal liberty, taxation for social reform rather than for revenue.

REVOLT SPREADING

The average American, and a lot of the delegates are very average American, is growing tired of being bullied and pushed around by radical groups operating with the connivance of Mr. Roosevelt.

There is plenty of evidence that the revolt is spreading like a prairie fire across the whole of the vast Middle West to join the fires already burning in the South and Southwest.

I heard two delegates say they would go along with the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt but that in November they were prepared to vote against him.

It may be that the CIO Political Action Committee is overplaying its hand and reaping more trouble than it will reap votes. Yet the PAC resents advice or any such suggestion.

One thing is evident, not only here at the convention but over all of the nation, and that is the dangerous, widening gap between the few big industrial cities and all the rest of the country.

The issue is becoming clear—that of traditional American democratic ideology on the one hand as opposed to the ideologies born, not in France or in England, but right in the heart of Europe, in Germany itself: for that is where Socialism, Communism and Fascism all came from.

The New York city radical group has done much to clear the fogs that have confused the American people during the past 12 years. It may be a costly process for the divided, disintegrating Democratic party.

Fear Harm to Youth in FD-Churchill Mystery

NEW YORK, July 20—Information has reached this country from England that the British attorney of Tyler Kent, central figure in London's mysterious code case, fears for the safety of the young American if he is returned to the United States at this time.

Kent, former code clerk in the American embassy in London, convicted by the British of divulging code messages which passed between Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt, has been imprisoned since 1940.

According to Upton Close, radio commentator and friend of Kent's mother, Mrs. Kent two weeks ago received word that her son's London attorney had asked the British courts to hold in abeyance deportation proceedings which were to go into effect with an anticipated parole.

RUSSIANS GET COPIES

"In his petition the attorney stated that if Kent is returned to this country now, he fears for his safety," Close told a New York Journal-American correspondent in Los Angeles.

"The Russian secret police have copies of the cables exchanged between Roosevelt and Churchill. Breckenridge Long of the State Department told Mrs. Kent her son disclosed State Department information to the Russians.

"Kent admits only that he showed the cables to Capt. Archibald H. M. Ramsay, an opponent of Churchill and member of Parliament who still is in jail."

Kent's mother, Mrs. A. H. P. Kent, widow of an American career diplomat, charges that Churchill, then First Lord of the Admiralty, started the exchange of messages with Roosevelt, using highly secret American government code and saying in effect:

"I am half American, and the natural person to work with you. It is evident we see eye to eye. Were I to become Prime Minister of Britain, we could control the world."

Close declared he had asked if there might be a link between the Kent case and the Greenwich Village death of John Bryan Owen, grandson of William Jennings Bryan, "because Mrs. Kent, whom I've known for some time, told me in writing that Owen's fare, or part of it, to America was paid by her." He added:

TYLER KENT

Roosevelt Churchill

"She sent Ian Ross MacFarlane, news analyst on "WITH, Baltimore, to England to try to learn the facts in her son's case.

"Owen, who had been in jail in England for six months on charges unknown to me, was released to leave the country, and MacFarlane helped him get home on Mrs. Kent's funds.

TALKED ABOUT KENT

"They arrived in Halifax by plane, were grounded, and took a boat to New York, arriving in November, 1943. One or both of them took a room in Greenwich Village, and Owen did some talking about the Kent case around town, apparently trying to get it printed.

"Mrs. Kent was in Washington awaiting a full report from MacFarlane on the results of his mission and his interview with Kent in prison about the substance of the cables between Roosevelt and Churchill, which he decoded, but before Owen could be brought to Washington he was found dead on Jan. 2, 1943."

(According to New York city police, Owen, son of Mrs. Ruth Bryan Rhode, former U. S. minister to Denmark, died of an extremely large dose of veronol. Death was officially listed as suicide.)

MacFarlane then told Mrs. Kent, according to Close, that he wished to be disassociated with the matter and indicated he was frightened.

Democrats Urged To Act in Kent Case

CHICAGO, July 20—Friends of Mrs. A. H. P. Kent today were bending every effort to bring the case of her son, Tyler Kent, onto the floor of the Democratic National Convention.

The fate of the former American embassy code clerk imprisoned in England was presented to the convention resolutions committee.

Need of U. S. Fitness Plan Cited

CHICAGO, July 20 (AP)—A physical fitness program for the American people is vitally needed, the Journal of the American Medical Ass'n declared today.

The Journal printed a recent report of Col. Edward G. Rowntree, chief of Selective Service's medical division, that the number of 4-F men totals more than 4,000,000. It also cited a study showing that 13 per cent of the young men entering the University of Illinois could not swim and 24 per cent could not jump an obstacle waist high.

"Evidence of this type lends support to the charge by Col. Rowntree that many Americans are flabby, soft, pampered and in need of conditioning," the article said.

The Journal called attention to a physical fitness program to operate throughout the nation beginning Sept. 1, and reported that plans already made "are certain to eventuate in a campaign to interest the American people" in "increased health and efficiency."

No More Big Top At Circus Shows

SARASOTA, Fla., July 20 (AP)—Troupers of the Ringling Brothers and Barnm and Bailey circus, back home in winter quarters, prepared today to rebuild equipment damaged in the disastrous July 6 fire at Hartford, Ct.

Executives, aerialists, clowns and dancing girls all have pledged to help ready the show.

"We have come home to repair, rehearse, and resume," said F. Beverly Kelley, speaking for the circus management.

Plans call for abandoning the "big top" for open air performances for the present. All-steel seats will be used when they are available.

STOCKHOLM, July 20 (AP)—The Free Danish Press Service reported Field Marshal Rommel had been wounded and operated on by a Danish brain surgeon, Prof. Busch, for removal of a shell splinter.

BRETTON WOODS, N. H. (AP)—Lord John M. Keynes, head of the British delegation to the United Nations monetary conference, suffered a mild heart attack but his condition was described as "not too serious."

A delegation spokesman said he became "indisposed" at the close of a gruelling day. It was expected that he would be able to attend today's meetings.

FREDERICK ANDRUS

Has This Child Found Secret Defense Against Robots?

SKETCH SHOWS SIDE VIEW OF ROBOT BOMB

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—The similarity of movement between a garter snake and an elastic wristwatch band, observed by a 4½-year-old boy, may develop a defense against the Nazi robot bomb, says the president of a precision instrument firm.

Mrs. M. H. McNab, president of McNab, Inc., Bridgeport, Ct., manufacturers of precision instruments, said at a press conference the boy, Frederick Andrus Gautesen of Plainfield, N. J., had discovered an entirely new principle in physics through chance remarks to a company mechanic visiting his home recently.

The child, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Virginia Gautesen, attended the conference but did not participate.

J. Scott Williams, member of the board of directors of the company, said the principle involved questioned Newton's third law of motion that "every action has an equal and opposite reaction." However, company officals would not divulge further details of the device.

"Scientists believe it is sound and that it is a step in the direction of repelling the Nazi robot bomb and another weapon that may come from Germany and Japan," Mrs. McNab said, adding that the Army and Navy had been advised that officials and scientists of the firm engaged on the project would go to Washington today.

Mrs. Gautesen said Frederick was a normal child, but most observant and curious. His father, Alf O. Gautesen, marine engineer and navigator, was killed in an automobile accident two years ago.

Robots Take New Course As Guns Wipe Out Bases

By JAMES R. CHAMBERS
Reuter's Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 20 (INS)—Londoners and British civilians of southern England continuously under fire from German flying bombs have been invited by the anti-aircraft command to take a trip along the southern coast to see how Hitler's "doodlebugs" are being delt with by gunners and fighter pilots.

Mayors, town councillors and representatives of civilians also have been asked to join.

Officers in charge of gunsites expressed the opinion that civilians would be "very encouraged" if they could see what is happening to the majority of flying bombs.

Southern England and the London area were again attacked last night and this morning and it seemed that most of the flying bombs were traveling along a fresh route.

There is every indication that the bombing of Pas de Calais and the railroads serving that area has checked the attack from that direction. Evidence indicates most of the flying mombs have been launched from the most northerly parts of France or even Belgium.

During the past 24 hours many of the bombs sent along new routes have been shot down, but those which evaded the combined defenses and fell in built-up areas caused more damage to homes and casualties among the civilian population.

Southern England's evacuation of women and children is still going on.

Mothers Up Soon After Stork Calls

CHICAGO, July 20 (AP)—Mothers may safely be permitted to be out of bed on the third or fourth day after birth of their babies if there are no complications, Dr. Morris L. Rotstein of Baltimore reported today in the journal of the American Medical Ass'n.

He said Sinai Hospital in Baltimore allowed 150 maternity patients to be up on the third or fourth day after delivery, to increase bed turnover and to note the results.

Dr. Rotstein said that the patients felt well, were able to walk about and even helped take care of other patients.

These patients were allowed to go home after six or eight days, instead of the usual 10-day wait, and they "felt strong and were better equipped to go about their duties," the physician said.

2 Strikes Tie Up Vital War Work

CHICAGO, July 20 (AP)—A series of work stoppages in four plants engaged in vital war production was reported in the Chicago area today in the wake of labor disputes. Another walkout was reported in a Muskegon Heights, Mich., plant, making a total of some 3000 idle.

For the third time since last February, the huge Chicago Dodge plant, where 90 per cent of the engines for B-29 bombers are built, was affected by a walkout, 599 employes in the magnesium foundry stopping work yesterday in protest against disciplinary measures against two workers. A spokesman for the United Automobile Workers (ICO) said the work stoppage was unauthorized.

Construction of naval landing craft was stopped last night at the Calumet harbor yards of the Pullman-Standard car Co. by a strike of 500 members of the CIO steel workers. An additional 400 nonstriking employes were made idle. Company and union spokesmen said the walkout was in protest against dismissal of an employe the company charged was found sleeping on the job.

Production of radio and radar parts at the Chicago Die Mould Mfg. Co. was interfered with by a strike of 85 employes who are members of the UAW.

El Tax Hearing Near Conclusion

Final arguments today were scheduled to wind up hearings which started last March on petition of the Boston Elevated Railway for abatement of taxes on six pieces of its property which, under the present tax rate, net the city annually about $200,000.

The Elevated seeks abatement of $381,609 paid in taxes in 1939, 1940 and 1942, and also to rid itself of all taxation on the property, valued at $5,068,200.

The Elevated claims its property was over-valuated by the assessors and maintains it has been paying taxes although it had the right to claim exemption from taxation because the property was used for a public purpose.

Police Get Warrant For Martin Slayer

Closing in on the killer, police today obtained warrants against five persons in their probe of the gangland slaying of Pepper Martin, 44, former boxer and gambler, found shot to death in an auto parked in the Back Bay.

After a brief hearing in Roxbury court, Judge Miles issued a John Doe warrant for a man detectives say they know to be the actual killer.

In a second warrant, Jack McCarthy of Roxbury, former heavyweight boxer, was charged with being an accessory after the fact in connection with the fatal shooting. He now is in custody.

THREE OTHERS HELD

Three other persons, all under grilling since the shooting, were ordered held by the court as material witnesses.

They are Louis Baione of Acton st., South End, in whose automobile Martin was found; John Riley, a night watchman, and Raymond Read, a night manager, the latter two employes at a Back Bay garage where the victim was operating a dice game just before death stepped in.

Capt. Thomas F. Harvey and Sgts. William Condon and Ray Monohan, all of the Back Bay station, appeared before Judge Miles. Arraignment of the four men in custody was expected later today, as was the arrest of the man accused of firing two fatal shots.

Meanwhile, detectives probed several angles in search of the real motive for Martin's slaying.

Robbery was advanced as the chief motive when authorities learned that a short time before Martin left the dice game he had between $400 and $500 on his person.

When his body, with a bullet through the heart and another in the lung, was found in the parked auto, police found only $54 in one trouser pocket. The other was pulled outward.

Police, who went to search Martin's Huntington ave., apartment at the request of Medical Examiner Timothy Leary, found the place had been entered and ransacked prior to their arrival. The lock had been broken in an attempt to force it, and entrance had been effected by rear windows.

Mildred Harris

The operation was performed after she had been ill for three weeks.

Miss Harris married Chaplin in 1917, when she was 15 years old. She obtained a divorce in 1920, and since has been married three times. Recently she had been in burlesque theater and musical show work.

Party Tipoff

CHICAGO, July 20 (AP)—Count on the waitresses at the Stevens Hotel, convention headquarters, to give the lowdown on th difference between parties. "The Republicans," said one head waitress, "ate breakfast here, but the Democrats have made so much money in the last 12 years, they eat breakfast in bed or in their rooms. Room service is getting all the money and all the tips. We're starving on the morning shift at this convention."

Bail Freedom Near For Lopes

Freedom on bail neared today for Jack Lopes, 55, Scituate war worker held as an accessory after the fact in the murder of little Frances McGrath as State Police officials launched an entirely new probe of the 35-day-old case.

Atty. Antonio D. Cardoz, counsel for Lopes, who is held at Plymouth jail as is Mrs. Bertha Pina, 39, a Scituate neighbor, who allegedly was with Lopes when the body first was found June 14, initiated the action for his client's release in Suffolk Superior court.

Appearing before Judge John E. Swift, Cardozo filed a motion seeking revision of the terms of bail set for Lopes in Hingham district court after his arrest two weeks ago.

JUDGE GRANTS PLEA

Cardozo asked that the words "or $25,000 cash" be inserted in the order instructing that Lopes be held in double surety.

After hearing the attorney's plea, Judge Swift granted the motion and Cardozo left the courtroom, saying he was going at once to Plymouth jail to furnish the $25,000 cash bail for Lopes.

Before Lopes is freed, however, it was expected that he would be asked by Capt. Joseph L. Ferrari, of the State Police, who was placed in complete charge of the murder investigation, to review the story he has repeated so many times.

Ferrari is expected to question Mrs. Pina at the same time he visits the jail today to talk with Lopes.

NEW PROBE UNDER WAY

Ferrari was assigned to the case yesterday by Public Safety Comr. John F. Stokes after 35 days of investigation had failed to bring authorities to any definite trail to the killer of the 10-year-old daughter of former City Councilor John McGrath of Dorchester.

Ferrari chose State Police Lt. John Dempsey as his chief aide and the pair lined up a staff which started right back at the beginning on an entirely new probe of the slaying.

Kentucky Family of 3 Gets On Without Ration Books

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 20 (AP)—Rationing and point-budgeting may stamup and befuddle most Americans but not the O. W. Smiths, a Louisville family of three. They simply buy no rationed goods.

As a matter of fact, the Smiths never have applied for a ration book although they are entitled to three.

"If a man sits down and makes a list of all the things that are not rationed," says Mr. Smith, "He will find he can get plenty to eat."

And since introduction of rationing back in 1942, Smith, 27, a powder plant worker, his wife, Theresa, 26, and their four-year-old daughter, Evalina, have been proving it.

A skeptical neighbor reported them to the Office of Price Administration.

After an investigation, OPA Food Enforcement Atty. Fred J. Karem said:

"I wouldn't believe it until I saw the proof, but they live on unrationed foods. They buy no sugar. We are convinced they don't buy anything in the black market, and we give them a clean bill of health."

Mrs. Smith said they were all well supplied with shoes when rationing was introduced, but since have bought some unrationed footwear. Growing Evalina's needs were taken care of through foresight, she explained. Mrs. Smith, prior to rationing, purchased four or five pairs in graduated sizes to cover the child's growth.

The Smiths had a car but sold it when gasoline was rationed.

Tito Reports Violent Battles in Serbia

Heir Shoulda Been a Baron

Thomas Warner

Jean Warner

LOS ANGELES, July 20 (AP)—Thomas William Warner, Jr., son of a millionaire auto parts manufacturer, "said he should have been a feudal baron" and assumed "a superior attitude" toward her, Jean MacDonald Warner testified in obtaining a divorce.

The attractive blonde, whom young Warner married in Las Vegas, Nev., six years ago after he had hired a private detective to investigate the genuineness of her affection, replied "That's putting it mildly and it was horrible," when her attorney asked her yesterday if he had a temper.

The Warners' courtship was featured by a $1,250,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Pearl Antibus, a detective, against young Warner's father for personal injuries allegedly suffered when young Warner was removed from her home by his father and district attorney's investigators.

5 Noxon Jurors Called to Stand

PITTSFIELD, July 20—Five members of the first Noxon jury were called as witnesses today in contempt proceedings sought by Dist. Atty. Charles R. Alberti against Deputy Sheriffs Wallace H. Kezer of North Adams and William A. Ford of Lee.

Earlier, William Widen, the jury foreman, testified that Kezer had entered the jury room and stated that Atty. Joseph Ely, defense counsel for Noxon, wanted to know their feelings and if they had reached any opinion. Ely has branded the alleged statement as ridiculous.

But Widen also admitted to Judge Thomas J. Hammond, who has been asked to find the two deputy sheriffs guilty of contempt, that he and the rest of the jury had signed a statement exonerating Ford of ever having discussed the guilt or innocence of Noxon, who was found guilty of the murder of his baby son by a second jury.

The signed statement, offered in Ford's defense read:

"We, the undersigned, members of the Noxon jury, do hereby swear under oath that we never discussed the innocence or guilt of the defendant John Noxon with Deputy Sheriff William A. Ford of Lee."

Widen further testified that when he was approached by Ford to sign the paper, Ford told him that Sheriff J. Bruce McIntyre had been ordered not to allow him, Ford, to serve during the second Noxon trial.

Death Takes U. S. Dreyfus

CHICAGO, July 20 (AP)—Oberlin M. Carter, sometimes called the American Dreyfus by his friends, is dead, thus ending his 45-year battle to set aside a court-martial verdict that cut short his career as an Army engineer. Carter died of pneumonia a week after his 88th birthday anniversary.

In 1899, Carter was convicted by court-martial on a charge of defrauding the government in letting contracts for numerous river and harbor improvements. A sentence dismissing him from the Army, imposing a fine, and ordering him confined at hard labor for five years swept him from Great Britain's Court of St. James, where he was a military attache, to a cell in Leavenworth penitentiary.

2d Holdup Suspect Held in $20,000

Pleading guilty to a charge of armed robbery, John J. Clancy, 25, who gave addresses in Boston and Somerville, was ordered held in $20,000 today for the grand jury in Malden court.

Clancy was the second to be arraigned on the charge arising from the armed holdup of Henry Perrone, proprietor of a Pearl st., Malden, cafe, last Saturday night. Tuesday Herbert F. Thomas of Malden was held in the same bail after he pleaded guilty.

A third man is still sought in the case.

Pastor Is Freed From Killer Bride

LOS ANGELES, July 20 (AP)—Rev. William Hall, pastor of the Missionary Baptist church here, has been granted an annulment of his marriage to Mrs. Mamie E. Hall. His attorney presented records to show she was convicted in Texas of slaying a former husband and had served four years and nine months of a 25-year sentence.

A month after their marriage in Beaumont, Tex., last year, his wife informed him she had no intention of helping him in his church work, the minister testified. He said she demanded he sign over certain property to her and declared: "I killed my first husband and I don't know what I might do to you."

Paper Collection Record in Sight

Continuing at a spectacular pace, Boston's July waste paper and tin salvage drive entered the stretch today and, with two days to go, enjoyed prospects of establishing a new record.

Salvage Director Hyland announced that collections in the first 14 wards of the city showed a 20 per cent gain in reclaimed paper and a 5 per cent gain in tin over last month.

Paper collections so far total 695,460 pounds as against 547,204 in June, while tin can salvage amounts to 224,700 pounds compared with 211,900 a month ago.

The drive will end tomorrow with pickups in Ward 19, Jamaica Plain; Ward 20, West Roxbury and Roslindale, and Wards 21 and 22, Allston and Brighton.

Winners of the drawings for the $25 war bonds in the wards where collections were held yesterday are: Richard Jones, 11, of Buttonwood st., Dorchester, whose father is with the Navy in the South Pacific; Mrs. Minnie Draper, Emerson st., South Boston; Mrs. Rita Cousing, Prescott st., Roxbury; Nellie T. Infantry Trained In Tarzan Tactics

By HUCK FINNEGAN

INFANTRY UNIT, Northern Ireland—Net climbing, river crossing and street fighting are some of the new wrinkles of warfare being practiced by infantrymen as they prepare for action in France.

A huge scaffold-like structure from which a 40-foot net is dropped is the scene of the Tarzan tactics. Troops in waves of three swing over the top and descend, fully equipped, in unison.

To make the descent more realistic, to simulate the roll of a ship, the net is heave-hoed to and fro. It doesn't bother the climbers. The chaff has long been separated from the wheat.

ENDLESS PRACTICE

They scamper up and down the net, rifle strapped firmly to shoulder. It wouldn't do to drop it on the head of a mate below. First left foot and left arm; then right foot and right arm. Stay in your lane. Practice makes perfect. These men have plenty of practice.

River crossing must wait on the tide. Two hip-booted engineers ride in front of the flat-bottomed

PFC Joseph Totaro
Greenfield

Lt. Joseph Baranowski

scow. A third acts as helmsman in the rear. Troops fill the belly of the boat.

"Keep those oars out," barks the C. O. as the scraping is heard on the shore. Crossings must be made quietly, usually in the dead of night. Let the enemy sleep.

The troops eventually paddle with Indian stealth. They cross and recross until the C. O. is satisfied.

SERIOUS BUSINESS

A section of a city is roped off for street fighting. There was a lot of it at Cassino. There will be more in France. These men will be experts in the grim business. Small mortars, grenades, bayoneted rifles flash as the men steal from door to door, house to house.

This is serious business. One-star and two-star generals come a long way to watch the dress rehearsal.

Participating in these maneuvers are men from the Bay State.

Tomorrow:

An infantryman's day is a busy one, sometimes extending into night, once in a while stretching over three days. Huck Finnegan, in his article tomorrow, gives a graphic description of combat training and tells about many New England lads who are going through it.

Pvt. George De Mestico, 19, of 12 Fiske ave., Whitman, is among them. He's a tall, good-looking youngster with crew haircut, who was a cloth cutter from London Clothiers, No. Abington. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. John.

De Mestico revels in the going. He likes Army life.

He has a brother Paul, 24, in England. "May be in France now." He hasn't seen him for 9 months. There is little time off in the Army in these busy days.

"Louis Grande, So. Weymouth, stopped here for the Italian campaign. I missed him by a day."

George's girl friend, Arlene Sullivan, 6 Benton st., Middleboro, attends Boston Business School and writes often.

MORTAR COMMANDER

Lt. Howard Warnock, 25, of 21A Bennet st., Brighton, was in command of a mortar section during the street fighting. "We (sister Betty) are new in Brighton. Used to live on the Riverway. Jimmie Foxx and Cliff Battles were our neighbors for years."

Lt. Warnock worked for Mass. Bonding on Kilby st. He's been in the service 27 months.

PFC Nick Julian, 21, of 23 Spring st., Milford, wanted to talk baseball. He played for Milford High in '39 when it dropped the state championship final to Somerville, 2-1.

He worked in the machine shop at Dennison's in Framingham, played semi-pro football with the Holy Angels and baseball with Milford's Trojans. Olga Sanchione writes him every day.

PFC Raymond F. Gilligan, 24, of 91 Lawn ave., Pawtucket, caught for Pawtucket High six years back, worked in J. and P. Coates cotton mill. Rita Desaulner, 52 Earl st., Central Falls, corresponds regularly.

His brother S-Sgt. Herbert L., is in the Army Air Corps. His brother-in-law, Pvt. Frampton B. Slade, 43 Cherry st., Pawtucket, is in the Army.

Girl friend: Ila Winterbottom, 30 Richmond ave., West Barrington, R. I. "My aunt (Mrs. John Livesey) lives in Boston — 390 Riverway. I used to visit her often."

4 SONS IN UNIFORM

Pvt. Stanley V. Wincek, 30, of 42 Briggs ave., Pittsfield, is a member of a family that has a perfect service record: Four sons, all in uniform. All four were employed at Pittsfield's General Electric.

Joseph S., 21, winner of the student-athlete medal at St. Joseph's High, took an active part in the invasion of Attu. Anthony A., 32, has been with the antiaircraft in the South Pacific for one and one-half years. Peter J., 24, is assigned to an LST in the Atlantic.

Stanley himself was an all round athlete in high school, played semi-pro baseball with Polish Americans, was secretary of the Polish Relief Council, is attached to communications section of Rgt. Headquarters. A sister, Jaddy, is now Mrs. Harvey Loveless, and her husband is in the Army.

An M. P. with the division is Cpl. Arthur N. Georg, 34, of 56 Eldridge st., Newton, who served a hitch in the Navy, 1928-1932. "I took my basic at Ft. Riley with Joe Louis," says George, an expert at judo.

Caught on the fly as they hustled to parade grounds were Lt. Joseph Caporali, 28, of 470 Arch st., New Britain, Ct., and Lt. Joseph Baronowski, 560 Farmington ave., New Britain. Caporali has a brother Frank, 22, in the Marines; Baranowski's brother Peter is with the paratroopers in France.

Caporali (wife Rosalie [illegible]) spent seven months in Iceland before coming here, Baranowski was with an M. P. outfit in London until seven months ago.

'Dead' Man Seeks To Meet Daughter

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., July 20—The man who came back after being missing for 14 years and declared legally dead is going to attempt a reunion in Washington, D. C., this week-end with his daughter, Anne, 16.

John A. Commons, the former University of Wisconsin economist found last week working in Hartford, Ct., as a laundry truck driver, said today he plans to end a visit here Saturday with his 83-year-old father, Dr. John R. Commons.

On his way back to Hartford, he revealed, he will stop at the nation's capital where his daughter now lives with her mother, and he is hoping for a reunion with Anne, whom he hasn't seen since she was a baby.

His father, he said, will not accompany him to Hartford where Commons plans to resume his truck driving job.

"I work from 6 a. m. until 9 p. m. and would never see father," he told a reporter. "I haven't much money. And the harsh winters there would kill him (father). He has good friends here and is well taken care of."

Commons said he had received a message from Thomas Holland, his former wife's brother, asking him to see him at Washington.

"I don't know what he wants, but I will see him," he said. "I'd like to see Anne, but I'll leave it up to her. I won't see her if she doesn't want it."

Auto Tax Stamp Drive Nears End

The drive to see that every vehicle in Massachusetts bears a $5 Federal tax stamp neared completion today with hundreds of delinquents ordered to buy stamps at once or face prosecution.

Names of those without the stamp by July 31 will be turned over for prosecution to U. S. Atty. Edmund J. Brandon, with a $25 fine recommended in each case.

Boys' Clubs Aid War on Ragweed

"Death to Ragweed."

This is the battle cry of boys and girls of the Junior Victory Army and members of other youth organizations who are joining the campaign to destroy this vicious enemy of hay fever sufferers.

Among those in the forefront of the drive are members of the Boston Boys' Clubs, executive director of which is Arthur T. Burger. Hundreds of members of these clubs are affiliated with the Junior Victory Army.

WAGE ANNUAL CAMPAIGNS

For years under Burger's direction these boys have waged annual campaigns for the destruction of ragweed, centering their activities at each of the five summer camps operated by the Boston clubs. Under trained youth leaders these boys go on hikes and every hike is made an invasion of the enemy's stronghold. It is destroyed whenever and wherever it is found.

This practice can well be adopted by all other campers where boys and girls will have the help of adults in recognizing ragweed if they don't know what it looks like.

Common ragweed is an annual growing from two to four feet in height. It produces finely divided, dull-green rough leaves with a strong odor. It is found in vacant lots, hacky ares, waste places, neglected gardens, fields, pastures, playgrounds and along roads.

STRIKE BEFORE IT BLOOMS

Strike it down now before it blooms because its yellow flowers, early in August, provide the pollen which is swept up by winds and brings untold misery and expense to hay fever sufferers.

Keep track of your efforts in this worthy war effort and report by letter or JVA corps sheet to headquarters at the address below.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well wrapped in your letter.

Read the next JVA story in Friday's Daily Record.

Racial Plank Scored By Senator Pepper

CONVENTION STADIUM, Chicago, July 20 (INS)—Democratic platform writers early today completed a draft of the party's aims and policies containing a "mild" racial equality plank which failed to meet the whole-hearted approval of one of the New Deal stalwarts, Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida.

Although all members of the drafting committee were sworn to secrecy on the platform, Pepper, a committee member, and frequently a White House spokesman, labeled the racial plank as "not wholly satisfactory."

"Any document on which more than one person collaborated is not wholly satisfactory to everybody," the southerner asserted.

Pepper's criticism followed a threat by the Tennessee delegation that it would withdraw endorsement of President Roosevelt pending a look at the racial equality stand. Rumblings of a revolt over the Negro question among other southern delegations also were spreading through the convention.

Following approval of the platform—hailed as the shortest record—by the resolutions committee it will be submitted to the convention this afternoon for final adoption and possibly a floor fight over the controversial racial question.

It was believed a halfway compromise was reached on the race relations program which would bind the Democrats to a continuation of its present program to preserve the rights of all minority groups.

REPORTS—Mrs. Dorothy Vrendenburgh, first woman elected secretary of the Democratic national committee, addresses the convention. She wears a plum-colored suit, pink blouse.

Patton in Invasion Fight, Says Berlin

LONDON, July 20 (AP)—The Berlin radio, in an unconfirmed reference to Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., said today:

"Further divisions of Patton's army, which consists of Canadians and Americans, are being engaged on the invasion front. New Allied formations brought up to the front include a replenished Canadian second division which carried out the raid on Dieppe." Allied chiefs have not denied Patton's role in the invasion.

further and added that as a second choice, he would accept Supreme Court Justice Douglas.

Existence of the letter was challenged by Wallace's supporters. Sen. Guffey and Sen. Pepper attacked National Chairman Hannegan for spreading rumors about the letter. Both demands that Hannegan make it public, as both assailed the President's preference for Truman.

Guffey warned his fellow Democrats that if Truman were nominated the Republicans could use a slogan of "Hannegan, Hague and Flynn" to offset the "Main, Barton and Fish" New Deal slogan of 1940. Though he attacks Hannegan, Guffey's barbs were really aimed at the President.

The Wallace forces lasted at Truman's connection with the old Prendergast machine in Kansas City.

WELL MANAGED

Roosevelt's manager, meanwhile, continued a sultry attack on Wallace supporters among the CIO and Communist ranks. There was little warmth in this attack, as the Roosevelt managers apparently is not yet recovered from the Wallace blitz of Byrnes.

It was no secret at the convention that Wallace was getting better management than Truman. Wallace's management were Guffey, Pepper, Atty. General Biddle, Secretary of Interior Ickes and Asst. Secretary Oscar Chapman, Sidney Hillman of the CIO Political Action Committee and Philip Murray, CIO boss.

Amid all this confusion, the Barkley following mained aloof. Wallace leaders begged him to stay in the race; Truman leaders begged him to get out in the Missourian's favor. It remained in it.

Postmaster General Walker and Flynn personally appealed to Barkley to quit. This incensed Barkley so much that he sent out orders to withdraw all copies of his speech placing the President in nomination.

This gave the presidential leaders a major attack of convention jitters.

TROUBLE AVERTED

Barkley thereafter conferred with his own managers until well after 1:30 this morning and finally decided to go through with his original plan—to nominate Roosevelt and to stay in the vice-presidential race.

It so happened that James A. Farley was seen emerging from this conference, and he may have had something to do with Barkley's decision.

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—The Navy disclosed today that the escort aircraft carrier Long Island, first of the now large fleet of such craft, had a part in the historic battle of Midway.

"I TRIED EVERY LAXATIVE I COULD FIND!"

Happy at Finding Relief With Cereal Food!

If you've often despaired of finding lasting relief—read this unsolicited letter!

"I cannot forgive myself for not trying your KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN many years ago. My constipation kept me busy digging in for money to pay for laxatives. I tried every one I could find, but got only slight relief. I have been eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN for three weeks now, and am as regular as can be!" Mr. Thomas Lewis, 806½ Fourth Avenue, N., St. Petersburg, Fla.

Scientists say one common cause of constipation is lack of sufficient "cellulosic" elements in the diet! But Nature has made KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN one of her most effective sources of these important elements! They help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic contents for easy, natural evacuation. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! Doesn't "sweep you out"! It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!

If you have constipation of this type, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly with milk and fruit, or mixed with other cereals. Drink plenty of water. See if you, too, don't get real help! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Bay Staters Face New Deal Blackball

By FRANK REILLY
Boston American Staff Writer

CHICAGO, July 20—Steam-rollered in line by New Deal operators, Massachusetts' delegation to the Democratic national convention today was to cast a majority of its votes for a fourth term for President Roosevelt.

But many a vote would be cast reluctantly and under the threat that desertion of the President will mean black-balling by persons in high places.

Confident that the New Deal cannot miss, delegation leaders have left the rest of the delegation to shift for themselves, only warning that those who step out of line are marked for retaliation when, and if, the New Deal goes back for four more years.

Despite all this, one courageous group planned to cast a minority vote for former postmaster James A. Farley as their presidential nominee. Included were School Committeeman Michael J. Ward of Brighton and Dist. Atty. William J. Foley, South Boston.

There was a strong possibility they would be supported by John Steele of Mattapan, 70, oldest member of the Bay State delegation, and by Mrs. Elizabeth Dowling of Milton.

The delegation has been leaderless to date. With the exception of Cong. James M. Curley they have had little contact with outstanding members of the group.

The latter seem to have devoted most of their time to social activities or to private conferences with New Deal representatives here from Washington to advise as to what White House officialdom wants done here.

RESENT TREATMENT

Some delegates, resentful of this treatment, were declaring openly they would not be delivered to any New Deal candidate for Vice-President.

Four men are being discussed today as Vice-President candidates. They are Speaker Rayburn, supported by friends of Cong. McCormack and Cong. Curley; Sen. Barkley, backed by friends of former Cong. Casey; Sen. Truman, apparent first choice of Mayor Tobin's supporters, and former Gov. Frank Murphy of New Hampshire, likely to receive votes of several women delegates headed by Mrs. Dowling.

Support by Tobinites of Truman's candidacy followed a conference between the Mayor and Postmaster Gen. Frank Walker who is reported to be unofficial spokesman for President Roosevelt.

Rebellious Democrats from 28 states met in the Hotel Hamilton to unite in an effort to defeat the New Deal in November.

Representing Massachusetts were Joseph Lee, former Boston school committeeman, and Charles H. McGlue, former Democratic State chairman.

Hearing on "Coddling"

Charges that prisoners of war are being coddled will be aired before members of the regimental council of the 101st Infantry Veterans' Ass'n. at a meeting Sunday at 3 p. m. at the Michael J. Perkins Post, A. L., South Boston.

Dewey Meets State Cabinet

By LEO W. O'BRIEN

ALBANY, July 20 (INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, went about state business today as the Democrats prepared to nominate President Roosevelt.

Only important business on the Dewey calendar was a meeting with members of his state cabinet.

Whether Gov. Dewey would listen on the radio today when President Roosevelt is nominated and speaks remained his own secret.

Newspapermen recently asked Dewey if he would have anything to say if President Roosevelt delivered his acceptance speech from some place outside continental United States, perhaps London.

"I think the American people would understand that without any help," he said, "but I might have something to say if it happened."

That—in effect—is the plaint of Munich newspapers arriving here after the fourth heavy Allied bombing of that city in six days. Woman Juror Stand of American Praised

To the Editor of the Boston American:

Congratulations on the editorial that appeared in the Boston American on July 13 entitled, "Women Will Improve Our Juries." A petition making women liable for jury service will be filed for consideration by the 1945 session of the General Court. The arguments in your editorial are so well presented that I feel sure it will have great influence on the passage of the bill.

Through the past 20 years women have fought for this change in the jury law supported by the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs, the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, the Business and Professional Women's Club and the Women's Trade Union League. These organizations represent thousands of women in this State and the Legislature should no longer refuse to grant the right of jury duty to the women of Massachusetts.

Since the early days of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, jury service has always been incident to the voting privilege. The right to trial by jury is the cornerstone of Democracy. It was included in the Magna Carta in 1215. One of the first things that Hitler did was to abolish trial by jury!

Everywhere women are making a great contribution to the fight for freedom. Will Massachusetts continue to say to these women they cannot serve on juries which is one of the most important duties in a Democracy?

When this State passes a law making women liable for jury duty, it will be a progressive, forward step and will have a profound effect on the safety and welfare of all the people of the Commonwealth.

Very truly yours,

LESLIE B. CUTLER,
Representative Sixth Norfolk District.

Let the People Know

EVERY CANDIDATE for a Massachusetts office should state his stand on the question of women jurors.

Women will probably cast more votes than men in November. Therefore, they have a right to know how the candidates feel towards them.

Twenty-nine other States have granted women the right to serve on juries.

Massachusetts women are just as intelligent, just as provenly competent and just as deserving of recognition.

It should not be necessary to remind candidates that women are serving in most departments of the State and national governments; that they have gone into all branches of the fighting forces, and that they are largely responsible for our wartime production records.

Seeking the right to serve on juries, women are asking only what they have earned.

Get the Coupon Racketeers

THE REPEATED thefts of gasoline coupons arouse and anger all patriotic New England people.

The persistent larceny means that the hardship of rationing falls on only a part of the population; that some persons are doing more than their share in the conservation program, and that some other persons are doing nothing at all.

The OPA should make a determined effort to stop this gasoline coupon racketeering.

If it lacks the means or the ability, it should enlist the services of municipal and State police.

We have plenty of laws to cope with robbery, burglary and counterfeiting. We should use them.

CHICAGO, July 20—I was going to write a moral essay entitled "Wallace's Bite Is Not as Bad as His Barkley" or "Don't Change Barrels While Going Over Niagara Falls," when I ran into Mr. Charles Michelson, the special ballyhoo boy of the Democratic National Committee.

Mr. Michelson has ghost-written so many speeches for politicians, including Franklin Roosevelt, that he can't pass a ghost any more without stopping to swap ectoplasm with it. Because of his spiritual qualities he is credited with deep powers of divination.

"Ah, great sage!" I said, bowing from what used to be the waist. "What message do you have for the people?"

Mr. Michelson closed his eyes. He kept them closed for two kilowatt hours. Finally he opened them and said:

"Life is like a fountain!"

We all stared in admiration and reverence. Murmurs of "life is like a fountain!" "Charlie Michelson says life is like a fountain!" swept the vast assemblage.

I was about to leave, my heart overflowing with the message, when a bystander—probably a vice presidential aspirant—halted me.

"Why," he demanded, "is life like a fountain?"

Well, it seemed I didn't know. So I went back to Mr. Michelson and inquired.

"Why," I asked, "is life like a fountain?"

Mr. Michelson's eyes were closed again and I had to repeat the question three times. The fourth time he pried half an eye open and snarled:

"All right, you stinker. Then it isn't like a fountain!"

BEFORE MR. MICHELSON went back to his reverie I asked him who was going to be Democratic nominee for vice president.

"I am so sure of the outcome," he said, "that I am betting on it. I have bet on all fourteen vice president aspirants to show."

THE DELEGATES, as you know, are here to nominate Mr. Roosevelt and another man named Mene Mene Tekel Upharsin, believed by many to be an Arab. And among the most colorful of these delegates is W. H. Heen of Hawaii.

Judge Heen is a territorial Senator. He used to be a judge. He is a native Hawaiian.

Well, he had a brightly-hued lei draped around his big straw hat, thereby attracting quite a lot of attention.

The spectacle seemed particularly intriguing to several members of the Texas delegation. Finally two of them could contain their curiosity no longer.

"We have just made a bet," said the first. "I said you are from Guatemala."

"And I," said the other, "bet you are from Colombia."

"No," said Judge Heen, "I am from Hawaii."

The Texans were silent a moment; then one said:

"I wonder if you'd mind answering a personal question? Do you have any white blood?"

"I certainly have," said Judge Heen. "My ancestors ate Captain Cook!"

RAY DOYLE of the New York Mirror traveled to Chicago with the Tammany Hall delegation. Included in this erudite group was Jimmy Kelly, leader of Manhattan's Second Assembly District and famous Greenwich Village night clubster.

The Tammany savants were discoursing learnedly on the various aspirants for vice president. Mr. Kelly was staring through the window at the rain-drenched landscape.

Obviously he was thinking deeply. Finally a colleague—who feared Jimmy might be taking the troubled political situation too hard—sought to administer comfort.

"Don't let it get you down, Jim," he said. "What's bothering you?"

"I'm afraid," said Mr. Kelly, "that it's going to be a muddy track at Jamaica!"

A GROUP of newspapermen were gazing in the Stevens lobby when Sen. Tom Connally, of Texas, came along. The solon was beamingly expansive.

"Glad to see you all!" he said.

He seemed completely nonplussed when Earl Godwin, the radio commentator, demanded:

"Are you really?"

A RAFT of friends were gathered around Sen. Barkley, of Kentucky, in the lobby of the Blackstone. During this period of chit-chat at least five persons stopped and invited Barkley to lunch. He refused them all, saying he was too busy.

Finally, one of the friends commented:

"You can't try for vice president and eat too?"

Come to me dearest I'm lonely without thee;
Daytime and nighttime I'm thinking about thee;
Nighttime and daytime in dreams I behold thee;
Unwelcome the waking which ceases to fold thee.
Come, for my heart in your absence is weary
Haste, for my spirit is sickened and dreary;
Come to the arms which alone should caress thee,
Come to the heart that is throbbing to press thee.

IS THIS really a free country? Some feminine residents of Long Branch, N. J., are beginning to doubt it. A Long Branch ruling recently made is that no woman over 16 can wear shorts on the streets. As to the reason for the ruling, one official is reported to have said he was "tired of seeing 200 pound, 40 year old mamas trying to make themselves pin-up girls." That certainly is adding insult to injury. Indignation is at a high pitch among the stylish stouts of Long Branch, who feel this official's remark is the most unkind cut directed at pleasingly plump ladies since a captious critic of feminine styles observed:

Dames with fat backs
Shouldn't wear slacks.

SEASONS: A Bostonian says she was born July 5 on a day when the thermometer registered 105 in the shade. She says she loves the summertime. She further states a friend of hers, who was born during a blizzard with the thermometer below zero, loves the wintertime. She wonders if the time of a person's birth affects likes or dislikes as to seasons. I can only speak for myself. I was born in the summertime, but my favorite season is the fall.

AUTOS: England is not the only country in which motorists keep to the left. As a matter of fact, nearly half the world keeps to the left on the highways. In addition to England, countries following this system are Sweden, China, India, Japan, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Malaya, Dutch East Indies and the Argentine. In these countries cars with a right hand drive are preferred. The first automobiles in the United States had the right hand drive. If you can name the year in which American autos switched from right hand drive to left you can really call yourself a young old timer as an auto driver.

ASKING: Query from client: Q—How does George Bernard Shaw stand up in a comparison with Shakespeare? A—Mr. Shaw is a brilliant man, but it is stepping him much too far up in class to suggest he be compared to Shakespeare. The characters in Shaw's plays are like a lot of ventriloquists' dummies being merely mediums for the expression of Shavian ideas. Shakespeare's characters were human. The Bard of Avon was a real playwright. Shaw is just a dramatic essayist.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 20—Gene Tierney will go blonde for "A Bell Adano" because the Italian heroine in the book had light hair. I wasn't surprised today to hear she had been chosen for this important role.

Producers on the 20th lot have high praise for Gene. She's never temperamental about her movie assignments and is co-operative with the studio and the publicity department. Nice gal to have around.

Gene Tierney

The main character in "Bell," Major Joppolo, has not been cast yet but I wouldn't be surprised if Gary Cooper accepts it. I talked with him about playing the part and he told me many people thought it was a natural for him. His only fear is that he doesn't look like he had Italian ancestry (which Major Joppolo had). True, Gary is blonde and blue eyed—but there are many blonde Italians. Bill Bendix is set for the tough sergeant.

WHAT LUCK DAVID Selznick has! In "Since You Went Away," a picture loaded down with stars, a kid, who has just a bare three or four scenes, leaped to immediate attention. He is Guy Madison, 19, who plays the lonesome sailor, and at the party Evalyn Walsh McLean gave after the preview, I cross my heart, that Guy had as many admirers clustered around him as the big stars in the picture. Right now he's serving in the Coast Guard and he showed up at the "preen" in his uniform. But if I know David, he has Guy all signed, sealed and set on a contract after he finishes his present job for Uncle Sam.

THAT BANKROLL back of Samuel Bronston is apparently solid, for he is shooting at the moon on "Ten Little Indians." Sam has just signed Rene Claire on an exclusive producer-director contract and the French director's first assignment is the "Little Indians," the hit Shubert musical. Claire recently completed "It Happened tomorrow," and before he came to this country he discovered Annabella and started her on her career. Also he directed one of the best of the Robert Donat movies, "The Ghost Goes West."

GREER GARSON, her M-G-M bosses and everybody else connected with "Mrs. Parkington" are perched right up a tree and don't know how to get down. The poser that is causing all the excitement is this: After the sneak preview of "Mrs. Parkington" the studio was flooded with cards from fans saying they preferred Greer with her black hair and that they would like for her to remain a brunette from now on! The lady, no doubt, looked lovely, but Greer, minus her famous red tresses (red hair is almost her trade mark) is like imagining M-G-M without Leo, the lion.

AL JOLSON is deeply hurt at his old friend, Joseph Schenck, and at 20th Century-Fox. He says they used a part of "Rose of Washington Square" with him in "Take It or Leave It" without his permission. Said Al:

"I am not going to sue because it isn't money I want. But I am within my legal rights because, according to my contract, they couldn't use any part of me without my permission. I did 'Rhapsody in Blue' for Warners for nothing, but they first let me see it before it was released. I have a job now at Columbia and this could hurt me. But, I love Joe and I am not going into court." So we suspect that Joe and Al will get together and see what can be done.

TWO NEWS ITEMS about my friend Damon Runyon. I have his book, "Runyon A La Carte," composed of the best short stories he has written the last few years. I had read some of them in the magazines and I enjoyed reading them a second time. He dedicates his volume to his friend and employer of many years, William Randolph Hearst. Damon has had a number of offers to sign contracts at the studios, but up to today he had not made up his mind. There is no one who can write the stuff about the "guys" and "dolls" as he does, so it is no wonder several studios have been trying to get him to write original stories.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Don't be surprised if Priscilla Lane returns to Warners. Her husband, Lt. Joseph Howard, goes overseas soon and Priscilla has said she would make no pictures until he leaves; Hattie McDaniel will name her baby, if a girl, Hattie "Janie" McDaniel Crawford. The Janie is in honor of the movie she made, and the Crawford is her husband's name; Claudette Colbert and Com. Joel Pressman brought a real hero both to the premiere and later to Evalyn Walsh McLean's party. He is Com. Sanchez, called "Mike" by his friends. He was decorated with the Flying Cross and Air Medal. David Selznick long-distanced his wife at the McLean party and her father, L. B. Mayer, her sister, Mrs. Goetz and this writer all told her how much we liked "Since You Went Away." Shirley Temple came to the party on the arm of Pvt. Andrew Hotchkiss and was the center of an admiring crowd. Joan Fontaine, in a gay mood, was with Sir Charles and Lady Mendl. Just about everyone was at the McLean soiree.

MILTON BERLE reports to 20th August 1 for another picture; here's a warning to the gin rummy fiends! Lt. Herb Stein broke his fingers when he banged his hand on the table in a hot game; Ginny Simms is back in town after flying to her father's bedside; Barbara Stanwyck plans to take a house in New Orleans when she finishes "Christmas in Connecticut." That's where Lt. Robert Taylor will be stationed; my girl friend reporter, Gracie Allen, now in Chicago covering the Democratic Convention, wires that the Democrats brought out a lot of movie celebrities who carried on their own convention in the pump room. Edgar Bergen is there appearing at the hospitals. Dick Powell, Irene Bordoni, Morton Downey, Mitzi Green and Gloria Swanson, the toast of the town, are a few of Gracie's pals. That's all today. My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Wednesday—A clipping was sent me the other day from a paper which rather consistently has opposed the Administration, and finds it amusing at times to criticize something which I have said or done. The closing paragraph reads as follows:

"Eleanor Roosevelt's comment on youth having written the document of all documents, was any one of several things. It was a concession for these times, it was a shadow casting coming events, or it was plainly a slip of the pen."

This refers to a column which I wrote for the Fourth of July in which I mentioned the Declaration of Independence as having been written by young men. The point which I would like to bring out is that they have labored so hard to find a reason for stating an obvious truth.

The Declaration of Independence was written by young men. These men did not live in an age when many men lived to grow old, but a few of those who had a hand in framing this document continued to be looked up to, respected and consulted in their maturer years and I am sure that, as we read of their lives, we are proud of all they did both as young and old men.

SOMETIMES it seems to me that people overlook simple explanations and the obvious ones in their efforts to discover some hidden meaning which never was there and probably would not have been very important even if it had been there!

The thing which gives me the greatest entertainment is to find how easy it is to create an impression of being omniscient and knowing a great deal or of having the ability to do a great many things when really you know nothing and can do nothing.

I remember a very wise man telling me years ago that sometimes it is the part of wisdom to be willing to be considered uninfluential and "out of the know," because you got yourself into more trouble when people attribute to you abilities which you do not have!

I chuckle when I hear people who, I know quite well, have no inside knowledge and could not wield one scrap of influence, murmuring in hushed tones: "I heard a secret from the best authority, and, of course, I would never repeat it to anyone but you." This is a desire to feel important, but it is so much more comfortable to be unimportant!

She's Entitled To Care

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

My husband is a private in the Army, and I am pregnant and staying at home with my parents. My husband wants me to come where he is and have my baby at the Army hospital, where he says it won't cost me anything.

I think it would be better for all of us if I stayed where my mother could help me after I get out of the hospital. What I want to know is will the Government allow me anything if I stay with my mother? Or do I have to go to a Government hospital? (Mrs.) L. J. C.

The Maternity and Infant Care is provided for wives and infants wherever they are, and it will not be necessary for you to go to an Army hospital. This care is obtainable through State health departments, and you must apply in advance for it.

Be sure to send in your application at once, so that you may get all the medical care you should have, free of charge. You are not supposed to pay for anything. Obtain a blank at Red Cross or your doctor's office.

Ideal Summer Make-Up

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

IF YOU'RE CURSING the fates that endowed you with a skin that won't hold powder in the warm weather . . . if it's your complexion . . . and not your eyes . . . that melts 'neath mid-summer stars . . . do as the professional fashion models do. These glittering stars of the fashion pages are experts at outwitting torrid temperatures . . . having learned from long and tiresome experience before white-hot photographer's lights . . . that the right make-up . . . correctly applied . . . can actually defeat the heat.

And . . . praises be . . . the make-up used by these topflight models . . . is as available to you as it is to them . . . and with as much ease and beauty in the bargain. It's a special cake . . . originally created for fashion models . . . and it should solve your summer complexion problems with A B C simplicity.

First it serves as a smooth, satiny complexion dress that keeps you looking fresh and "shine-less" for hours . . . next, it screens the tiny flaws and blemishes that are apt to show up all too plainly in the summer sunlight . . . and finally, it acts as protection against wind and dust.

VARIETY OF WARM, NATURAL TINTS

It comes in a variety of warm, natural tints . . . any of them on the rosy side of the spectrum . . . that lend the skin a glowing outdoor look that's particularly desirable in summer when so many of us are glued to office desks or war plant jobs . . . and must depend on brief week-end excursions for our sunning.

Models, by the way, find it most advisable to go only one or two shades darker than natural skin tone in choosing summer shades . . . and in this way, achieve a tanned look without actually darkening the complexion. The fawn plastic case it comes in is a honey . . . featherlight and waferthin . . . an exceedingly smart accessory as well as a mighty practical package. A single, simple half twist opens it . . . and it closes just as easily . . . and stays closed no matter how much jouncing it takes in your handbag.

You may have the name of this ideal summer make-up which holds such prestige among the fashion models by phoning the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or by writing me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ANY FACE CAN BE LIKE A MELODY if it is satiny smooth and refreshingly lovely . . . as appealing and glamorous as the complexion of any of the movie stars and fashion models if right make-up . . . correctly applied . . . is used. Warner Star Virginia Patton knows only too well how much of a fortune is her gorgeous face.

The Expression's A New One

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Do you ever speak of a person honoring a bride, or one who assists in the reception at her home after the ceremony, as "a member of the bride's house-party?" E. G.

I've never heard this expression used for a person who gives a party in honor of a bride . . . this woman would be the "hostess." A "member of a house party" usually refers to one of the group of guests on a visit to a house for a certain length of time, for a week-end or longer, or for the "House-Party Week" at a college or fraternity house. On the occasion of a wedding, there is often a house party of guests, at the bride's house and an assistant at the wedding reception may also be one of the house guests. But if the assistant at the reception isn't a visitor in the bride's house, she may be called an "assistant," but is usually called a "deputy hostess."

Quick, Easy Hot Meal

A CONTRAST of hot and cold foods adds to any menu. Even in warm weather when your inclination is toward cold dishes you will find that the inclusion of one hot food will make a more satisfying meal.

On days when you would like to serve light luncheon or supper on the porch or in your yard, it is possible to plan for one quick, easy hot dish such as the mouthwatering broiled beef sandwich in the following menu. It can be served last, right from the oven, on a hot platter.

PORCH SUPPER MENU

Five-Minute Steak Sandwiches
with Potato Salad
Tomato Wedges
Iced Coffee
Fresh Fruit Plain Cake

FIVE-MINUTE STEAK SANDWICH

1 lb. ground beef
2 tbsp grated onion
1 tsp. salt ⅛ tsp. pepper
6 slices bread or buns
Butter or margarine
Prepared mustard

Combine beef, onion, salt and pepper and mix thoroughly. Toast bread or buns on one side. Butter the untoasted side of bread and spread with mustard. Cover each slice with ground beef mixture, making sure edges are well covered so that they will not burn before the meat is done. Arrange on broiler rack, allowing 3 inches between the heat and the meat surface. Broil 5 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

In the summer perhaps more than any other season, meals need to be nutritious, palatable, and eye-appealing. Since all meats, regardless of kind, cut, price or point value, contain essential nutrients, a meat dish should be included in the main meal and salads or vegetables chosen to fit the kind of meat and its method of preparation.

SALAD SUGGESTIONS

A sprig of parsley or mint or fresh leaves saved from celery tops laid beside fresh tomato wedges; raw carrots grated lightly over the salad; diced, fresh, unpeeled cucumbers that have been marinated in French dressing and added to potato salad; a bit of watercress or radish roses garnishing the meat platter—any of these pretty and edible trimmings will add variety and give a lift to jaded appetites.

ONE-EGG CAKE

2 cups sifted cake flour
3 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1 cup sugar
¼ cup shortening
1 egg ⅔ cup milk
1 tsp. vanilla extract

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, and salt. Cream shortening, add sugar slowly, and cream until blended. Add unbeaten egg and beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk, stirring well after each addition. Add vanilla extract, bake in 2 greased 9-inch layer cake pans, or 2 sets greased muffin pans, in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 25 minutes, or bake in 1 greased 8-inch square pan in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 50 minutes. Cool and frost if desired. Makes 2 layers, about 16 medium-sized cup cakes, or 1 square. (This cake may be used hot for cottage pudding.)

Make Lines Enchanting

By BETTINA BEDWELL

IT IS getting along toward the time when you all have to face the problem of your fall clothes, and if you are going back to school or college you haven't any time to lose.

Before you start, it is only fair to yourself that you locate exactly the strategic lines of your own body, for your own information. Many a girl I see looks as though her body was a dark continent, and that she hadn't the faintest idea where to find her own waistline, hipline, bosom line, or any of her other major lines.

And yet, these lines, properly displayed, make all the beauty you can ever hop[illegible]. You have to know exactly where your wa[illegible]s is to see that the clothes you buy do right by it, and the same thing with all the other lines. The profile line of your back is a line of great beauty; yet a waistline placed wrong will kill it. This is so of other lines.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, July 20—(A few seasons ago the ditty, "Arthur Murray Taught Me Dancing in a Hurry," was high on the juke box hit parade. Its subject is a tall, bald, dignified gent to whom Broadway and Hollywood celebrities repair—sometimes in dead secrecy—to learn the awful truth about their rhumbas . . . D. K.)

ARTHUR MURRAY SAYS:

Looking back over the years I have been teaching dancing, many interesting things come to my mind. Perhaps you might like to hear a few stories of some of the great and the near-great who have been students of mine.

Walter Pidgeon

One time Walter Pidgeon told us he had to learn the tango for a picture the following morning. Well, that was a big order, but we decided it could be done. To make it easy for him, we arranged the steps to the the count of o-n-e, t-w-o, three, four and five.

On the set the following day, Pidgeon was expected to dance with the heroine, annd whisper, "Darling, I will love you always and always." But the scene was ruined when Pidgeon started to read his lines and tango at the same time. The only thing that came out when he opened his mouth was, "o-n-e, t-w-o, three, four, five."

KATHARINE HEPBURN was an apt pupil. She could master the most intricate steps in the shortest time.

Rudy Vallee was a student before he went into the Coast Guard, and he, too, was good. He was exceedingly shy, though and would never allow anyone to watch him. He just loved to dance.

Bing Crosby didn't mind spectators in the least. He learned quickly, and did a pretty good samba after an hour's instruction. Of course he hummed while he danced.

AS I SEE the First Lady hopping all over the world with such great energy, I always think of the time she was a student of mine. She loves to dance and she dances well.

HOLLYWOOD, July 20 — Greg McClure, who plays the title role in "The Great John L.," went to the Los Angeles Public Library the other night to look over a biography of the celebrated Sullivan he is portraying.

"You'll find all books dealing with Sullivan in the art department," said the attendant.

"In the art department!" asked the puzzled McClure. "Why John L. Sullivan was a pugilist, wasn't he?" said the attendant rather haughtily.

Maria Montez

"That's correct," answered Greg. "Well, we at the library look upon pugilism as an art," replied the attendant. You'll find all books on Sullivan in the art department.'

And sure enough they were; which makes even Tony Gallento an artist.

An irate director complained to his secretary that he had bad seats for the scheduled premiere performance of "Wilson."

"But, sir," she protested, "they gave you wonderful seats. They are in the middle, directly in front of the screen, not too far back and not too far front. I fought until I got them for you. You'll be able to see perfectly."

"I know, I know," replied the director, "but Zanuck can't see me!"

MARIA MONTEZ will play in Technicolor fantasy based on ancient Greece and King Croesus, which Emmett Lavery is preparing for her . . . Charlie Russell met a soldier from Texas at a party the other night and commented on how slowly he talked. "If you think ah talks slow, you oughta know mah sistah," drawled the Texan. "The othah night she went out with one of them slick city fellers in his shinny new auto-mo-bile. They parked on a lonely road, he turned off the ignition, and tried to kiss her. And befoah she cud tell him she warnt that kind of a gal . . . she was!"

ARTHUR KOBER tells the yarn about the well-dressed old guy who approached a chorus girl as she was exiting from the stage door.

"I know you'll think me presumptuous," said the old guy, "but I've been admiring you for weeks. I'm convinced that you are the girl for me." The chorus girl started to walk away.

"Don't go," said the old guy. "I'll give you anything you want. I'd like to buy you a fur coat, a diamond ring, an automobile, and, well, you just name it. Here is my card. Think it over and telephone me."

The startled chorine looked at the card and asked, "Is this your home number or your office number?"

"Neither," said the old guy "It's the corner drug store, but they'll call me."

The "Winged Victory" troupe is shooting location scenes at Santa Ana, and Lon McCallister says the sign which hangs above the mess hall at this camp reads: "Actors and prisoners eat here."

George Holland

Boston After Dark

IN THE CONFLICT OF CREDITS for the success of the nation's No. 1 song, "I'll Be Seeing You," this department today has the pleasure to report that another corner has been heard from Worcester . . . Worcester is now the home of the good-lookin' Alice (Pat) Alexander, and theater fans steeped in the lore of musical comedy will recognize Pat as the young woman who, backed by the millions of a shipping magnate, produced the ill-starred show, "Right This Way." (In 1938.)

"RIGHT THIS WAY" may not have been such-a-much, although there has been divergent opinion on that score, especially from admirers of Joe E. Lewis, who starred in it, and from acolytes at the shrine of the late and lovely Tamara, who was featured . . . Regardless of the merits of the Alexander musical, which opened in Boston and closed soon after, at least two song hits have been disinterred from the expensive musical's remains.

"I'LL BE SEEING YOU" is admittedly the most phenomenal song of the past few years . . . But it was not the first tune from "Right This Way" to strike the public fancy long after the show which caused its creation had expired and been forgotten . . . The first hit from the singular musical was "I Can Dream, Can't I?" . . . (You still hear it).

SO LET US QUOTE Miss Alice (Pat) Alexander . . . She phoned from Worcester . . . "I thought I should give you a scoop," began Miss Alexander, interestingly enough. "I see that my song 'I'll Be Seeing You' is causing Tin Pan Alley so much wrath that publishers, song-writers and others are beating one another over the head with non-marinated herrings from Lindy's . . . Well, I wrote the lyrics of 'I'll Be Seeing You' . . . I thought up the title, exactly as I thought up the title and wrote the lyrics of 'I Can Dream, Can't I?' . . . (Note: Miss Alexander likes "I's" in titles, she confessed) . . . Moreover, the song was conceived for an especial purpose.

"IF YOU recall my production of 'Right This Way' there was a Paris market scene in the second act, where poor Tamara had a weepy scene . . . The script called for her to cry, and we needed a song to fit the mood and the spot . . . And that's how 'I'll Be Seeing You' was born."

WE DEMURRED slightly at this point . . . If Alice or Pat had thought up the song which has been the leader of the hit parade for more weeks than any other popular tune then certainly she was well-stocked with lettuce at this time, and if this was the case then what possibly could she be doing in Worcester? . . . (Or any other city with such places as Cape Cod and Manchester-by-the-Sea so handy!) . . . She explained this . . . As producer of "Right This Way," a certain amount of complications was necessary to list her as a lyricist . . . ASCAP is chary of such arrangements, for instance.

"SO"—continued Miss Alexander—"I had a plain understanding with Irving Kahal and Sammy Fain, who are registered as the song's writers, to get credit and my share of the royalties . . . Of course, there were no royalties to speak of while the show was playing . . . I had the same arrangement with 'I Can Dream, Can't I?', and I have been taken care of by Sammy Fain on that number . . . You see both Irving Kahal and Tamara, who knew all about the arrangement, have died.

"I WAS RUMMAGING through a trunk I label 'theatrical' the other day, and I came across the original orchestrations of 'I'll Be Seeing You' . . . My name is listed as the lyric writer . . . As soon as I get in touch with Sammy Fain, who wrote the music, I know my part in the writing will be acknowledged and recompensed . . . But I did think that you should know the real story of the song so that the public can get it straight!" . . . Thank you, Miss Alexander.

Smart Set Gay Plymouth Events

By BETTY ALDEN

THE EEL RIVER BEACH CLUB in Plymouth is a popular informal gathering place for picnics, swimming and tennis enjoyed by summer colonists in the little time they have left after farming, canning and duty at the Red Cross.

MARY BUSH — Engaged to John Philip Bunker, USNR.

Among those seen there regularly are Mrs. Adams Blackmur, Mrs. George Crowell, Mrs. Charles Bartlett, Mrs. Clarence Hauthaway, Mrs. Sherman Whipple, Mrs. Fiske Mabbett and Mrs. Arthur Bubbins.

Debutante Pandy Withington, chairman of tennis at the club this year, is planning several exciting tournaments and her cousin, Margaret Louise Whipple, is in charge of swimming meets. Capt. and Mrs. Ralph Hornblower, Jr., (Priscilla Blumer) have divided the former's leave between the Ralph Hornblowers in Plymouth and the Thomas Blumers in Manchester. Mrs. Chester Greenwood has had a visit from her son, Lt. Elisha Atkins, and Lt. John Meyer has been a guest of Mrs. Henry Hornblower.

THERE ARE so many babies in the colony that hardly a week passes without a birthday celebration for some little tot. These are usually informal lawn parties attended by the other mothers and babies for games and home made sherbet. Cynthia Fry had her first birthday cake at a party Saturday on the lawn at her Grandmother Fry's and her Navy daddy, Russell Fry, Jr., was home to share the fun.

Among the other adorable youngsters who go to all the parties are the little golden-haired daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Hurvithal of Newton; the bouncing son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bartlett; Mrs. Louville Niles' appealing little family, and the youngest sons of the Lothrop Withingtons aged four and six.

The parties also include Mrs Henry Middendorf and her 3-year-old son; Mrs. Robert Meyer and her sister, Mrs. Alfred Meyer, with their respective children; their cousin, Mrs. Spencer H. Brewster, with daughter Anne; Mrs. Frederick Coe and Mrs. Robert Coe, each with a year-old child.

Acquanetta Helps Lions With Trans-Lux Thrills

By DON WARD

They call her enticing and exotic. She's Acquanetta, the smart little star who had us all hoodwinked into believing she was from 'way down in the tropics. She's the gal who has the title role in "Jungle Woman," now providing thrills at the Trans-Lux. Acquanetta is really from Cheyenne, Wy.

Among her companions in this latest horror hit are Evelyn Ankers, J. Carrol Naish, Lois Collier, Milburn Stone and Douglas Dumbrille, along with that intelligent and highly paid ape, Cheela.

It seems that Cheela and Acquanetta disappear simultaneously, one from her home under the big top, and the other from the grounds of an eerie sanitarium, where Dr. Naish has been experimenting with changing monkeys into people and vicey-versey.

You can imagine the weird happenings. Murders are committed, murders are averted by split seconds, Acquanetta (in her human incarnation) falls in love with Richard Davis, lions go on the rampage, and the doctor is in what is known as a dilemma when Acquanetta is found the victim of murder.

First Fiddle Class Of $50,000 'Cap

By JACK CONWAY

A DAY AT SUFFOLK Downs as First Fiddle won the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap . . . Jockey Johnny Longden, who first gained fame as a rider at the East Boston track, shaking off the interference of Alex Bartin through the stretch run to gain a smashing victory . . . First Fiddle clearly demonstrated he was the best horse in the race.

With more racing, Alquest, who finished third, will give the better thoroughbreds plenty of opposition . . . Alquest displayed amazing speed, but lacked the lasting power in the final drive for the mythical wire . . . George Woolf, one of the best handicap riders in the country, was up on Alquest and turned in his usual creditable job.

Johnny Longden

Four Freedoms was given a good ride by Eddie Arcaro, but the Greentree Stable standard bearer didn't have his usual drive from the head of the stretch home . . . On the far turn, it looked as if Four Freedoms was going to win . . . First Fiddle then started to move and Four Freedoms wilted.

One of the pleasing surprises of the race was the creditable showing of Dinner Party who finished fifth.

Bob Frend has reason to be happy as he sent the classy field off to a perfect start . . . It was a hard, true race, and First Fiddle and Jockey Longden received an ovation from the 28,000 fans when they entered the winner's circle . . . For an admission price of 50 cents Suffolk Downs on the day of the Massachusetts Handicap gives the biggest racing bargain in the world . . . It required a handle of $700,000 to pay the cost of the feature race . . . The day's handle hit $1,388,457 . . . With an attendance of 28,000 the day's racing gave the National War Fund, Inc. and its associated charities a substantial profit.

The handle for the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap was $243,167 which established a new record for New England tracks for a single race . . . Lt. Gov. Horace Cahill watched the race from the stewards' stand.

Kennedy at Races

FORMER Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy attended the races with former Police Commissioner Joe Timilty and a party of friends . . . Kennedy owns a large block of stock in Hialeah Park . . . His association with racing will be helpful to the sport of kings.

Former Gov. Joseph B. Ely, who has a habit of picking the winners of important stake races, was at the Paddock Club with Atty. Leo Goulston . . . Other notables at the Paddock Club included Pres. Gordon B. Hanlon and Mrs. Hanlon of Suffolk Downs, Bruce Wetmore and Mrs. Wetmore, Harold J. Kern, publisher of the Hearst Boston newspapers, Mrs. Kern and a party of friends, Julius Haller, Red Cross representative for the charity week racing, Robert Choate, Boston Herald publisher and editor, Robert Frank of the United War Fund, George Mahoney of Newton, Win Brooks, managing editor, Boston American, John Noonan, city editor, Boston American, Frank Timility of the Internal Revenue, Pres. James E. Looley of Narragansett Park, Lou Smith of Rockingham Park, Chairman Charles Connors and Commissioners Bayard Tuckerman and Harry Allen of the Massachusetts Racing Commission, Charley Mungie, circulation director of Hearst Boston newspapers and many others . . . Michel, head waiter in charge of the Paddock Club, handled the numerous luncheon parties in perfect order.

Serious Charge Against Wynn

WEST SPRINGFIELD, July 20—Asserting that pitcher Early Wynn of the Washington Senators is "getting away with murder," Chairman Whitfield Reid of the local draft board disclosed last night how the ball player's induction had been delayed.

Wynn, a 23-year-old right-hander, was to have been inducted in May, Reid said. His name was sent in for induction and the next thing the draft board knew he was back pitching for Washington.

"We learned that some high Selective Service officials went over our heads and deferred him because his mother was ill," Reid said.

Wynn then applied to have his selective service papers transferred to Washington. He was scheduled to be inducted July 18, Reid said, but the Washington draft board postponed his case to Aug. 6, claiming that their quotas were full.

Further continuances, Reid charged, will mean that Wynn will be able to play out the season. The ball player registered for the draft in this town while he was with the Springfield Eastern League team.

Chicago Track Raises $400,800 for Charity

CHICAGO, July 20 (AP)—Five days of horse racing at Washington Park the first week in July brought a profit of $400,800.04 to civilian and war charities.

The enterprise, sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., with the co-operation of the five Chicago area tracks, was described as the greatest financial success in the records of the Tribune Charities.

Virgil Trucks Retains Touch

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 20 (AP)—Virgil (Fire) Trucks had a big day on the mound and at bat last night as Great Lakes mumbled the Springfield Muny League all-stars, 14 to 1.

The former Detroit Tigers pitcher struck out 18 and allowed only four hits. He got three of the tars' 20 hits, including a home run and a triple. The win was the sailors' 29th in 30 games.

Handicap Means Little To Game Weitelmann

By BILL GRIMES

Although he could have stayed out of the lineup for a couple of days, Bill "Whitey" Weitelmann was so anxious to accustom himself to his unbreakable glasses that he was back at his post yesterday.

When he reported at the Choate School last March, Wietelmann informed Manager Bob Coleman that his eyes had been troubling him. He thought the ailment was due to a cold, but an examination by Dr. William T. Wrang, showed that there were four cysts under the lid of the left eye.

During the training season Wietelmann had eight cysts removed and shortly after the opening of the National League season he underwent another operation on a Sunday morning but played a double-header that afternoon.

On the first western trip "Whitey" didn't play his usual high grade defensive ball. He "booted" balls he would have eaten up, if he had been right. He was advised to wear glasses which he started to use just before the last road trip.

Since he has been wearing glasses Whitey has complained that he has trouble judging low bounding balls. When he looks down the balls seem to be higher than they are. At the bat he also had difficulty gauging pitches.

P. WANER GIVES ADVICE

While the Dodgers were in town last w[illegible] Manager Bob Coleman consulted Paul Waner, hoping the veteran could enlighten him on "Whitey's" trouble. Waner stated that when he started to wear glasses he was unable to judge ground balls and that he took many strikes, which to him looked to be well below his knees.

Waner queried the umpires and was informed that the questionable pitches were perfect strikes. It took Waner a month to accustom himself to the glasses and he told Whitey to spend as much time as possible out at shortstop fielding ground balls and he felt that within a few weeks his eyes would adjust themselves.

Wietelmann has always been a very serious kid. He lives baseball. So, naturally, when this eye ailment cropped up "Whitey" was worried. But he's a game kid and will overcome this handicap, if it is humanly possible.

JIM TOBIN AFTER HIS 11TH—Old Battle-axe, sometimes referred to as Tugboat Annie, is due to put the crusher on the Chicago Cubs in the first game of today's double-header at Braves Field. In the other game Al Javery will try to shake off the whammy that has been pursuing him.

Chisox Finally Stop Our Red Sox, 5-4

It may have been the fragrance and still it could have been a distasteful aroma from the convening Democrats in Chicago yesterday, but the fact remains that the Red Sox, after taking 12 straight games from the Chicago White Sox, dropped their first game of the season, 5 to 4, in the Windy City, appropriately termed for the moment.

Of all the good and generally reliable guys to fall down in the clutch, Lou Finney filled the bill yesterday. Lou came up in the ninth with the bases loaded and hit into a double play. Maybe Lou from Alabama was thinking of those 24 votes for Oscar W. Underwood for Alabama back in 1924. His mind wasn't on the ball.

Bobby Doerr raised his average to .338 as Pete Fox went hitless. Joe Bowman had a tough day, first since June 2. He walked four men and was reached for three hits in 4 2-3 innings.

Once again Joe Cronin's domestic relations creep into a Red Sox ball game. A few weeks ago Sherry Robertson, Joe's brother-in-law, playing for the Bainbridge, Md., training team slid into the plate and cracked the thumb of Catcher Bill Conroy.

As if this wasn't enough plague from one's own family Joe Haynes, Cronin's brother-in-law, in yesterday's ninth relieved Orville Grove and forced Lou Finney to hit into a double play. Truly no co-operation among those Cronins-Robertsons and Haynes.

Today Manager Joe sends Red Barrett after the White Sox. Jake Wade will twirl for Chicago and those Red Sox will keep that left foot free, ready for the water bucket with this wild bird operating.

Jacob once threw for the Red Sox at Fenway Park and how he did throw! Wade's intentions in those days were very excellent but his control was very bad.—FRED HOEY.

Yanks Boost Browns Attendance Figures

By Associated Press

St. Louis had an answer to its attendance problem today in the 31,361 paid customers for the first two games of the Yankee-Browns series for the American League lead.

Although 31,361 represents a fair Sunday crowd in some big league towns, it is roughly 20 per cent of the Browns total home draw and is calculated to ease the pain of last night's 6-5 setback by the New Yorkers.

Only last week the St. Louis Americans were sending out questionnaires to the fans asking "why don't you support the Browns?" Joe McCarthy's champs came to town trailing by two games and the fans started to flock through the turnstiles.

MISSED CHANCE

Last night's fray could have been the key to the race, although the season does not end until Oct. 1. If the Brownies had won, their lead would have measured four games in the early stages of a long home stay.

Johnny Lindell's three-run homer was the big blow in a Yankee four-run rally dooming Sig Jacucki and giving Ernie Bonham his fourth straight.

Detroit continued to come on strong since the return of Dick Wakefield, taking six of eight starts and going into a fourth-place tie by yesterday's 2-1 nod over Washington as Stubby Overmire outelbowed Dutch Leonard in 10 heats.

Chicago finally cracked Boston's "hex" after dropping 11 straight to the Red Sox and captured a 5-4 game on five runs in the fifth. Orval Grove got credit for his eighth victory, snapping Joe Bowman's five-game win streak.

WALTERS FAILS

Ken Keltner paced Cleveland to a 7-1 slaughter of Philadelphia with four hits for a perfect day, while Spec Klieman chucked his seventh victory at Bobo Newsom's expense.

Bucky Walters failed to go the route in a night game for the first time this season but kept intact his seven-game win streak as Reliefer Arnie Carter took the loss in a 10-5 shellacking by Brooklyn. Les Webber, the second of three Brook hurlers, came up with the win that moved the Dodgers back into sixth place.

Ken Raffensberger missed a shutout by one inning but held on for Philadelphia's 4-2 edge over Pittsburgh's Nick Strincevich in a Shibe park night outing.

Nate Andrews graduated into the 10-win class by hurling Boston to a 6-1 nod over Chicago with Bob Chipman suffering the defeat.

St. Louis and New York Nationals were not scheduled.

McAuley Is In!

Bill McAuley, the Daily Record's crack turf expert, was the only Boston handicapper to pick the winner, First Fiddle, of the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap.

In addition to choosing the $7.20 winner, McAuley also named Ned's Queen, $10.20 winner of the first; Tiny Tackle, $5.80 in the third; Ally Bal, $4.40 in the fifth, and Up The Creek, $6.40 in the eighth.

So this crack handicapper picked five winners yesterday, which together with his five winners for Tuesday gives him something approaching a record. Ten in a row. Not tough to take.

Three Dots Breaks Washington Pk. Mark

CHICAGO, July 20 (INS)—Three Dots, owned by John H. Rouse of Lexington, Ky., which recently equaled the Washington Park track record of 1:10 1/5 for six furlongs, set in 1940 by Roman Today held the record all by himself.

The 4-year-old son of Good Advice clipped a fifth of a second off the old mark, for an even 1:10, in yesterday's running of the $15,000 added Myrtlewood Handicap, defeated eight other sprint stars.

Bulldog Turner Waits Service Call

Wednesday's Stars

By the Associated Press

KEN KELTNER, Indians—Enjoyed perfect day with three singles and double in four at bats, pacing Cleveland to 7-1 decision over Philadelphia.

ORVAL GROVE, White Sox—Struck out eight Red Sox in 5-4 victory, but needed relief help from Joe Haynes before Chicago finally topped Boston after 11 failures.

CHUCK HOSTETTER, Tigers—Scored once and collected three singles as Detroit shaded Washington, 2-1, in 10 innings.

NATE ANDREWS, Braves—Picked up 10th win by trimming Chicago, 6-1, on airtight seven-hit performance.

CHARLIE LETCHAS, Phils—Doubled home two runs in first inning to help Ken Raffensberger take 4-2 nod over Pittsburgh.

LUIS OLMO, Dodgers—Touched off five-run winning rally in eighth inning with pinch double, breaking 5-5 tie as Brooklyn went on to gain 10-5 margin over Cincinnati.

JOHNNY LINDELL, Yankees—Belted three-run homer as New York exploded with four runs in sixth inning to square St. Louis series with 6-5 triumph.

West Roxbury And Hicks Meet

In the battle that never seems to end—the fight for last place in the Park League with the winner making sure of a play-off berth—Hicks Engineering and West Roxbury meet again tonight, the third night in a row, at Billings Field, West Roxbury.

The teams stand even for the series this week with one victory apiece and tonight's contest is the rubber match.

At the minute the Engineers hold a one point margin over the West Roxbury team and a victory tonight would practically clinch that all important play-off spot. But if playing on its home grounds gives a team an edge then West Roxbury has it, although a thing like that is an unimportant item with two teams so evenly matched.

Watertown Arsenal, having dropped to fourth place, will make its bid to overtake the Linehan Club when it meets Lawley's at Neponset. Manager Lou Strecker has the pitching to get his team up again but Lawley's, after taking it on the chin three successive nights, is ready to bounce back and will be a dangerous stumbling block in the Arsenal's path.

Over at Lee Park, South Boston, first place Navy Yard plays its second home game in as many nights and the Linehan Club will provide the competition again. Frank Spano will start either John McLaughlin or Bob Buckley and Bill Benson will counter with Bill Cunninghan or Joe McKinney.

Send Tobin and Al Javery After Cubs

Manager Bob Coleman will send Jim Tobin and Al Javery after the Cubs this afternoon at Braves Field . . . "Tobe" will be in quest of his 11th victory and if "Jave" breaks his losing streak, it will be his fourth win of the year . . Manager "Cholly" Grimm will counter with Claude Passeau and Hank Wyse.

Passeau's record is "five and five" and Wyse has turned in eight wins and has been beaten nine times . . . Bob Chipman didn't give Chet Ross' single the old college try with the bases loaded in the opening inning and two runs trickled across the plate . . . He didn't even make an attempt to make a play on the ball.

The Chicago Cubs gave Toronto $25,000 for catcher Dewey Williams . . . there must be big money in the gum business.

The veteran Stan Hack started a fast "D. P." in the first inning and pulled the Cubs out of a tight spot . . . Nate Andrews and Connie Ryan collided going after Bob Chipman's dragged pop up in the third . . . Andrews broke off the mound, figuring the ball would be too short for Connie to reach . . . And, apparently, Nate didn't hear Ryan yell "stay away from it," which must be the Jesuit High School way of saying "I possess it" . . . However, no damage resulted, for after Hack forced Chipman, Hughes hit into a Ryan to Wietelmann to Macon double play.

Ab Wright waves his bat around as though it was as light as a toothpick . . . Lt. Eddie Doherty, U. S. Navy, who was the public relations man for the Red Sox before he went into the service, has been transferred from the Pacific Coast to the dirigible base at South Weymouth . . . He was a visitor at Fenway Park yesterday.

CHET ROSS LOOKED GOOD

In all the years he had been with the Braves, Chet Ross never looked better than he did breaking for and gathering in Stan Hack's line drive in the fifth . . . Successive doubles to left by Roy Hughes and Phil Cavarretta put the Cubs back in the game in the sixth, but a grand one hand catch by Tommy Holmes in deep center off Andy Pafke prevented the North Siders from at least knotting the score.

Nate Andrews is all business when he's on duty He never makes a careless pitch and although he isn't a hitter, he doesn't give up . . . He came through with a timely hit yesterday in the sixth with the bases filled and two down . . . Then, Connie Ryan came up with a two-run double off the fence.

Andrews pitched himself out of a tough predicament in the 7th, after Don Johnson and Dewey Williams had opened the round with singles . . . He struck out the Mad Russian and then Stan Hack and Roy Hughes popped up . . . On the four occasions when the Braves had men on second and third and first base was open, Manager Grimm ordered his pitcher to walk the batter.

Andrews didn't have any trouble disposing of Bill Nicholson, and Dom Dallessandro, who usually ruins the Braves . . . The big race at Suffolk Downs didn't hurt the attendance . . . there were 2104 cash customers at Braves Field, along with 252 servicemen.

Salvo Hurls Perfect Game

OAKLAND, Cal., July 20 (INS)—Manuel Salvo, Oakland pitcher, was the toast of the Pacific Coast Baseball League today following his no-hit, no-run victory last night in the Emeryville ball park.

In the final game of a doubleheader with Sacramento Salvo took the mound and mowed the batters down with almost monotonous regularity for nine innings, chalking up a 2-to-0 win for Oakland, the current league leaders.

Form Players Favor 'Rock'

SALEM, N. H., July 20—Another formful meeting in the formful history of Rockingham Park is expected shortly, as the old Rock gets ready for its 12th start from the gate.

The meeting will begin on Monday next at 2:30, when the thoroughly capable Bob Frend gives a limit field of thoroughbreds the word to go and the traditional cry "They're off" rolls across the meadowy loveliness of the track. And though some of the finest from Delaware Park and elsewhere will be meeting many of the finest from Suffolk Downs and elsewhere, it is believed that form, as usual, will stand up at Rockingham Park.

The percentage of winning favorites at a track usually reflects ceaseless vigilance on the part of its officials. A year ago, at its 54-day autumn meeting, 39 per cent of the public choices won their races, to give the old Rock the leadership of New England in this important respect, and to place it high at the top among major tracks the country over.

Attention—Although Mrs. Helen Gahagen Douglas is all attention, the delegate at her right is more interested in what is going on in the outside world than he is in what Keynoter Robert S. Kerr has to tell the Democratic convention.

Looking On—James A. Farley, former national chairman of the Democratic party, is a silent onlooker at a New York delegation caucus in Chicago, where he has been mentioned as a possible opponent of the President in his bid for 16 years in the White House.

ASSASSIN TRIES TO KILL HITLER

The broadcast by DNB, said:

"A bomb attempt was made on the Fuehrer's life today. During the attempt, Lt. Gen. Schmundt, Lt. Col. Brandt, Lt. Col. Borg and Collaborator Berger, who were in Hitler's company, were injured seriously."

The announcement listed as slightly injured the following generals: Alfred Jodl, Hitler's chief military adviser; Korten, Buhle, Bodenschatz, Heusinger and Scherff. Admirals Voss and Von Putkammer also were injured.

Schmundt was chief military adjutant to Hitler in the days of Munich and had since remained close to the Fuehrer. He was at the Brenner Pass conference of Hitler and Benito Mussolini March 18, 1940, which preceded Italy's declaration of war uopn the Allies.

Only yesterday, the Russian press published a statement by the captured commander of the 41st Germany Army Tank Corps, Lt. Gen. Edmund Hofmeister, saying there was grave dissent in ranks of the German high command, with old generals dissatisfied with Hitler's strategy in refusing to retreat.

It was the second time, at least, during the war that Hitler narrowly missed death.

The first time was on Nov. 8, 1939 when a bomb exploded in the Munich beer hall just after the Fuehrer had left a celebration marking his ill-fated putsch of 1923.
